Mitch Aso
History of Science
May 2007
Field "Racial Theories of Human Difference and the Sciences"
Field supervised by: Warwick Anderson

The “Origins of the Modern Concept of Race”: The Rise and Decline (and Rise Again) of Scientific Racism in Europe and the Americas

Banton, Michael P. Racial Theories. 2nd ed.; New York: Cambridge University Press, 1998. [Choose one]

Natural History: Biology, Evolution, and Eugenics in the 19th and 20th centuries
History of Biology in a Nutshell

Eugenics

Allen, Garland E. “Old Wine in New Bottles: From Eugenics to Population Control in

Race in France: Biology, Eugenics, Civilization, and Degeneration

The Sciences of Man: American, British, and German Anthropology in the 19th and 20th centuries

Racial Hygiene, Public Health, and Medicine under the Nazis and other Places

Croizier, Ralph C. Traditional Medicine in Modern China; Science, Nationalism, and the

“Natures of Culture”: Race, Vision, and Landscape

Smith, Bernard. Imagining the Pacific: In the Wake of the Cook Voyages. New Haven:
Stepans’ new book on tropics.[?]

The Bio-politics of Métis and Métissage: Race, Sex, Hybridity, and Other Forms of Race in the Colonies

Race and Civilization in East and Southeast Asia

Sautman, Barry. Relations in Blood: China's 'Racial' Nationalism. Seattle: University of Washington. [Choose one]

Schneider, Laurence A. Biology and Revolution in Twentieth-Century China, Asia/Pacific/Perspectives. Lanham, Md.: Rowman & Littlefield, 2003. (?)

