American Indian Probate Reform Act of 2004 (AIPRA)

Continuing Legal Education Seminar
Wednesday, May 18, 2005
Madison, Wisconsin

AIPRA is the most significant legislation affecting Indian probate in years.
Tribes and tribal members need to know the impact of AIPRA on the probate process and on Indian land ownership.

Attend this seminar to discover how AIPRA will affect American Indian landholdings for generations to come.

Who should attend: Attorneys who deal with Indian law, both with individual members and with tribes; tribal personnel who deal with realty, probate, and land management; estate planning attorneys; law school faculty and students.

Hosted by: Land Tenure Center and the University of Wisconsin Law School • Great Lakes Indian Law Center • Indigenous Law Students Association • Ralph M. Hoyt Memorial Lecture Fund in Real Estate

Invited sponsors:
• Forest County Potawatomi
• Ho-Chunk Nation
• Oneida Nation of Wisconsin
• Indian Land Tenure Foundation
• Indian Land Working Group
• Indian Law Section, State Bar of Wisconsin
• Terra Institute, Ltd.
• Wisconsin Judicare, Inc.

Enroll now – space is limited!

Fee: $55 per person. Mail or fax registration form and fee or register on-line. Each person attending must register separately. Fee includes handouts, continental breakfast, breaks and dinner.
